

VEHICLE IDENTIFICATION CODES

Vehicles sold by Ford of Australia are assigned individual production numbers at the time of assembly by which each unit can thereafter be identified. The assigned number comprises a serial prefix and a sequential serial number. Examples of the product identification codes are shown on the following illustrations:-

Production Build Date Codes

Vehicle Year and Month of Production Identification:

The last two characters (letters) of the vehicle Serial Prefix Identifies the year and month of production of the vehicle.

The chart set out below interprets the production year and month codes. The letters I,O,Q, and Z have been excluded from the system to avoid possible misinterpretation of similarity with other letters that could arise from poorly written coding. The monthly codes set out as follows are recycled each fifth year.
